I Listening and Responding

Mohan lives with his parents in a town. He went to his grandparent's house in the village to celebrate Deepavali festival. One day when he woke up in the morning, he heard some noise from outside. He peeped through the window to know what it is about. He saw a big monster like effigy erected in the open place in front of their house at a distance. He came out and asked his grandmother about it. She said, "Today is Naraka Chaturdasi. People burn the effigy of Naraka at night." It is a mark of "Victory over evil." (Page No. 140 of My English World III)

Answers the following: -

1. Where does Mohan live?
2. Why did Mohan go to his grandparent's house?
3. Why do people burn the effigy of Naraka?
4. How do you celebrate Deepavali?
